

To whom it may concern,

July 24, 2008

I have had the professional and personal pleasure of working with Dr. Marty Henderson since early in 2003. Dr. Henderson is highly advanced in his understanding and application of ultrasound for a wide variety of needs including cardiac, ocular, and abdominal cases. He has excellent communication skills with both clients and the veterinarians he shares cases with, and has marked patience when explaining his ultrasonic findings and when working with veterinarians under stress of large caseloads. His confidence and competence with the varied applications of ultrasonography have been demonstrated from day to day at our very busy small companion animal practice in Palm Springs, California where his caseload may exceed six or seven patients in one morning. Considering that Dr. Henderson occasionally has to visit several local clinics in one day, this is a testament to his dedication and abilities.

Dr. Henderson's work is accurate and efficient, but more important, is consistent in its quality and reliability. Our practice has used Dr. Henderson's services as a mainstay of diagnostic work-up over the years, and I can personally attest to his value in retaining cases in our hospital that would otherwise have been referred, and in getting me the information I need to make confident decisions for my patients, particularly when considering surgical intervention. I have also personally used Dr. Henderson for consultation on many difficult or complex internal medical cases where my own knowledge or background may have been lacking. His understanding of the physiology and systems of mammalian medicine and anatomy is outstanding and worth mention.

Please contact me for any further questions or as a reference for Dr. Henderson. I believe he will prove a strong asset to any clinic that employs his services as an ultrasonographer.

Sincerely,

Shawn Behrenfeld, DVM
