To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is in reference to Dr. Martin Henderson, who performed multiple sonographic services for us from May 2005 to present.

I am a solo practitioner dedicated to high quality medicine and surgery. As such, I have found ultrasound imperative in many cases in which a diagnosis needs to be confirmed. It has then guided us to the most appropriate treatment for the animal.

I have actually participated in ultrasound courses and worked with general practitioners who attempt to perform their own, in-house ultrasounds and echocardiograms. It is alarming how steep the learning curve is and how easy it is to make a misdiagnosis, either finding what isn't there or missing what is. The more I learned, the less I wanted to have anyone but an expert perform my in-house diagnostic ultrasound.

Because so many clients are relieved to have a non-invasive way to assist them in deciding upon the best course of treatment, this has contributed significantly to my profits. The animal, client and clinic are all better served and the diagnoses are more accurate.

The diagnostic information provided by Dr. Henderson has been invaluable and never in question during the time I have known him. In addition, he provides valuable case treatment recommendations in conjunction with his services, at no extra charge. We are in an area where clients demand high quality service and accuracy in evaluations, and Marty has contributed greatly to that.

As a man of excellent character and integrity, Dr. Henderson would honestly assess any deficiency or discomfort he may have with a case, and consult with the appropriate specialist to supply his clients with the most accurate diagnosis. Please feel free to contact me if you have further questions.

Sincerely,

Dr. Tiffany Margolin, Dipl ABVP
